BRIAN RICHARD RE-JOINS KIRKSEY AS SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY TEAM LEADER

Kirksey is pleased to announce that Brian P. Richard, AIA, NCARB will be re-joining the firm as the Science & Technology Team Leader. As such, he will oversee projects that have an applied sciences program and/or require a high degree of technology integration. Market sector project types include Research & Development Facilities, Bioscience and Health Science Laboratories, Mission Critical & Data Storage Facilities, Petrochemical Laboratories & Facilities, Oil Services Technology Facilities, and Corporate Technology Facilities.

"We are excited about the strong qualifications in science and technology facilities Brian brings to Kirksey." says Wes Good, AIA, Managing Principal. "His qualifications combined with our strong portfolio of related projects will allow us to better serve our existing clients and expand our base into new markets."

Richard will join Kirksey full time on January 2, 2008.
